Managed Detection and Response (MDR)

Artificial intelligent endpoint security managed by intelligent humans at our Security Operations Center (SOC).

ASSURA™
Cybersecurity uncompromised.

With Assura MDR you get the best of both worlds in endpoint security.

AI-based threat blocking managed by our award-winning (SOC).

After researching many endpoint security platforms, we determined SentinelOne delivers maximum protection when paired with Assura's managed services. Partnered together you get one of the highest catch rates in the industry deployed on all your covered devices, working in unison with Assura's world-class monitoring, triaging, and notifications. You're immediately alerted of anything that looks suspicious or needing to be addressed.

In addition you get:

• Policy configuration and deployment to covered devices

• Automation orchestration

• Forensic analysis of malware incidents

Real-time autonomous protection and our proven expertise deliver enterprise-level cybersecurity to your network.

What you need to know:

• No other MDR service surpasses this level of protection

• No matter how many endpoints you have, you're protected

• No faster way to stop a breach due to real-time AI-powered automation

Why your business needs Assura MDR:

• Gives you peace of mind that all your endpoints are secure

• If a breach occurs the damage is instantly mitigated

• You can focus on delivering for your customers knowing you're protected

Attackers are constantly upping their game.

You need to do the same.

Integrating the latest technology into your cybersecurity is essential to stay one step ahead of the bad guys. They're constantly evolving their attacks, so with Assura MDR we can make sure you're constantly evolving your defense. Together we can shore up all of your endpoints to mitigate the risk of breach and help you recover quickly if by chance there is one.
